Driving Agriculture Automation

Autoprint has the distinction of pioneering the manufacture of sophisticated engineering products providing solutions to problem through innovativeness and quality.

The saga of Autoprint is that of visionary thinking, continuous efforts and innovative ideas. With a modest beginning in the printing field, and after 2 decades having created a major impact in empowering the printing industry with world class products at affordable prices, Autoprint today has ventured in to the agricultural field to drive the automation in the Indian food production industry.

As a first step, Autoprint, in collaboration with S.E.P Italy has introduced a series of soil preparation machines suitable for the Indian farmers.

Terravate: Flexible and Efficient

The Terravate is one of its kind new generation cultivating machine for pulverizing soil, ridge forming, bush cutting, seeding, spraying etc. This is an "All in one" cultivator with various optional attachments through Power Take Off (PTO) feature. While Terravate is an essential tool for every Indian farmer, major applications include intercrop (Min 1.25 feet) deweeding in coconut farms, cotton, sugarcane plantation, vegetables etc. and ridge forming around coconut trees.
